Innovation and efficiency are paramount in the ever-evolving landscape of project and portfolio management. However, organizations often face challenges that hinder their efficiency, collaboration, and decision-making processes.

What are these challenges? Let's dive into them.

Main challenges of portfolio management in modern organizations

As businesses expand their portfolios to meet diverse demands, the complexities of orchestrating multiple project management systems simultaneously can add extra complexity to daily operations.

No single view

Using different tools for projects can be confusing and make collaboration between cross-functional teams difficult.

Disconnected tools and processes

Projects managed separately with different tools lead to disjointed workflows and coordination challenges, hindering holistic oversight.

Fragmented reporting

Creating reports and analytics usually requires moving between different tools and systems, resulting in scattered data and less effective decision-making.

Missing features and capabilities

Some simple project tools lack essential features that organizations need, such as resource planning and advanced reporting.

Migration challenges

Moving from one project system to another can be expensive, complicated, and time-consuming.

While these challenges may seem daunting, a promising solution, PPM Express, addresses each of them head-on.
